Survey Background

Who: DeltaKids is a coalition of the non-profit and government partners who work with Delta children and families. Together we plan, implement, and support opportunities for the optimum development of children from conception to age twelve.

What: DeltaKids conducted a Child-Friendly Community Survey. The survey was inspired by the work of the Society for Children and Youth of BC and was funded by the United Way. Information about the general findings and specific results about Schools is enclosed.

Why: We offer this data in the hope that it will assist you in your work with Delta children and families, and in the spirit of prompting further discussion, research, and collaboration. Together we can make Delta an even more family friendly community than it is already.

If you have questions about the survey or would like additional details please be in touch with:

Who answered: Results are representational of Delta families, geographically and by child's age group	 Responses from 1- 2 % of families in each of the Delta neighbourhoods 2.5% of each age cohort represented, newborn to 12 years old, based on 2011 census
Were kids asked? Yes!	 54 responses to age 3-5 interview 31 responses to age 6-12 survey
3 questions about how welcoming and responsive schools are	 Most families report feeling very welcome at school and that their ideas and needs are responded to.

General Survey Findings: Community Factors

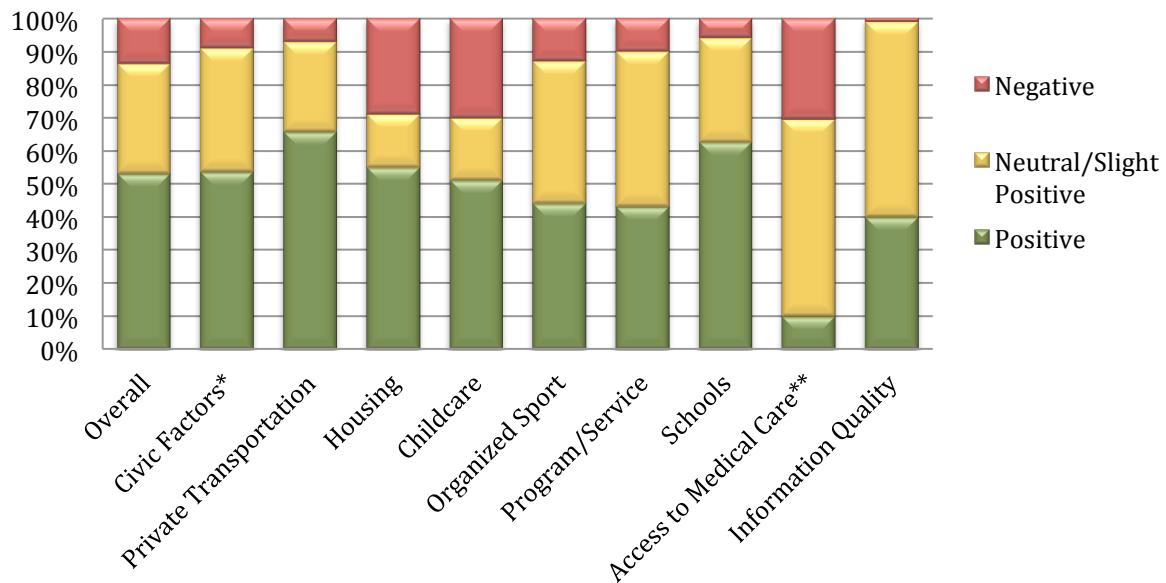

The survey included questions about the children's home environment/parent beliefs, and questions about the wider community. There were 29 questions covering a broad range of factors that impact families' experience of living in Delta. The choice of answers included a positive, negative and neutral/slight positive answer.

Community Factors

These 29 questions can be grouped into 9 categories. Questions specific to schools make up the are in the school section.

Community Factors by Section

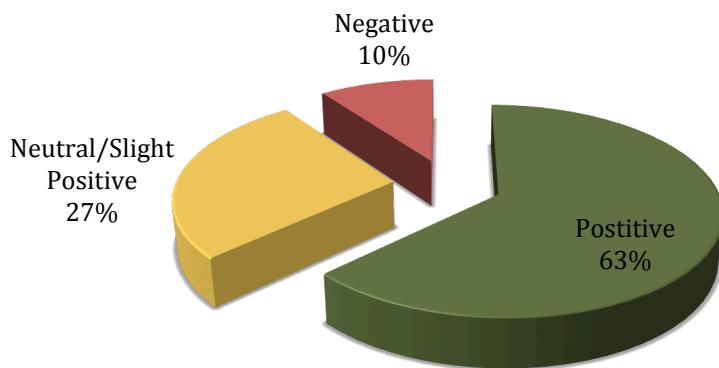

* Civic Factors include access to play and outdoor spaces, feelings of safety, media coverage, involvement of children in decision-making, and experiences with local businesses.

 The questions in 'Access to Medical Care' did not follow the typical question format. For most of those questions, the most positive response was a neutral one.

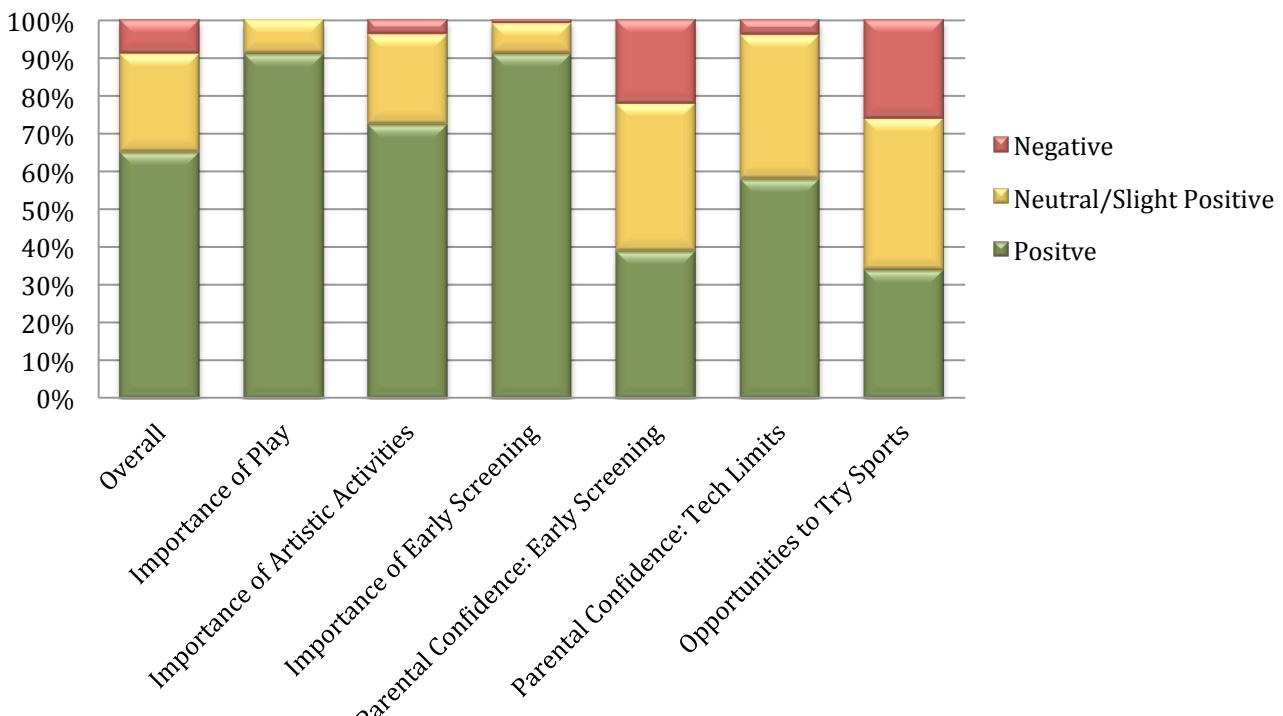

General Survey Findings: Home Factors

Six Home Factors were surveyed. The survey asked about the importance of play, the importance of artistic/creative opportunities for children, the importance of early screening, parental confidence knowing when to access early screening, parental confidence setting limits on technology, and whether children had opportunities to try various sports activities. There were three possible answers: a positive response, a neutral/slight positive response, and a negative response.

School Specific Survey Findings

The parent survey asked parents how welcome they feel at their child's school as well as how responsive that school is to their own ideas and needs as well as those of their children. School welcome was rated as the second highest community factor in the survey. School responsiveness was rated similar to the survey average.

Parents were free to identify with a school regardless of the age of their child. In total 413 out of 500 identified with a school and completed the question. 195 survey respondents had at least one child 3 or younger. Preschool parents identified with neighbourhood schools, StrongStart schools and preschools.

Pre school

Strong start

Port Guichon is very good

Currently at creative kids preschool in surrey....aside from the parent participation preschool in sunshine hills, I wasn't interested in what was available in north delta. Also wind and tide is supposed to be great but only offered in Ladner and tsawwassen

have always been on PAC

Other parents make me feel unwelcome due to my child having ADHD

Wind and Tide preschool. My kids are not school age yet.

Teachers yes; principal, less so.

 need to enforce Police Background check on all school volunteers.

He's not yet in K but we play at the playground every day we have chosen private and they are very helpful public schools don't have enough resources children go to 2 different schools; 1 very welcome, 1 somewhat welcome

We have an amazing school, but the principal is a cold fish. He's not very welcoming or friendly

Question: How responsive is your child's school to the ideas and needs of students?

I think

don't know if school solicit their ideas

Some ideas are taken on but every idea seems like there is an overly bureaucratic approach. It seems frustrating.

Kids are asked but I don't think many ideas are implemented responsive preschool, Gray elem not very responsive

Devon Gardens staff and PAC are very receptive.

I don't know

South Park is a wonderful school.

Hard to comment, on this one, still

With new directive leadership, I've heard it's improving.

very, very, very, very responsive!

starting Kindergarten Sept

Question: How responsive is your child's school to the ideas and needs of parents?

I think

Pac meetings weekday mornings which excludes most working parents input is taken seriously but they lack the financial resources necessary to provide additional support for my child

we have a disconnect between the principal and the PAC

Our school had a very abrasive vice principal until this year. His replacement is less abrasive, but makes NO attempt to connect with me as a parent. I think delta needs to require warmer reception of families at schools for parents with more than one child to be able to volunteer too. Ita

The administration here can be rigid and seem unfriendly status quo seems to be the way at most schools, takes quite a bit of encouragement and support to change things up

Child's preschool very responsive, older child _____ Elem. not very responsive

To PAC, yes; individuals less

PAC/teachers are great.

They are responsive as they can be with resources they have

The principal is a huge barrier to _____.

Not at all happy with _____ at _____. _____'s negativity is present in newsletters, daily interactions, and affects our family. We cannot wait for a new proactive principal.

Don't know yet as we are new to school grade 1

Just in strong start

Responsive to a select few parents

Appendix IV: Neighbourhood and Age Breakdown

While we can be reasonably confident in the accuracy of the Delta wide results (+/- 4.33% at 95% confidence level), the sub-population results for neighbourhoods or children's age have much larger confidence intervals. The following tables include confidence intervals calculated for the most positive response. If a sub-population's percentage is within the confidence interval for the total result a "w" is recorded. If not, an additional confidence interval was calculated for the sub-population result to determine if that range fell within or beyond the range of the overall survey result. As you will see the sub-populations are rarely different enough to be considered statistically different by this method. Nonetheless we wanted to provide the breakdown in the spirit of prompting questions, discussion, and further research.

Survey respondents identified their neighbourhood based on these descriptors:

*These neighbourhoods are the same used by the Human Early Learning Partnership at UBC for their research
